MARKET PRODUCE
PLentiful Here

Virginia and Maryland Products Flood City—Prices Drop Considerably.

Virginia and Maryland vegetables are being shipped to Washington markets in ever-increasing quantity. The produce is fresh and is selling at figures considerably under the quotations of a few weeks ago. Prices lower than those prevailing this week are expected within a short time.

New potatoes yesterday were selling for 12 and 15 cents a quarter of a peck, tomatoes at 15 cents a pound, spinach 10 cents a quarter of a peck, and sweet potatoes at 15 cents a quarter of a peck. Peas were quoted at 15 and 20 cents a quarter of a peck, and turnips at 5 cents a bunch.

Meat prices are advancing on wholesale markets, but the change has had but little effect on the retail figures. Roast beef sold by retail dealers at 15 and 25 cents a pound; roast pork at 15 and 25 cents a pound. The market is between the seasons for cattle, it is explained. The meat now being received was fattened on expensive grains. Cattle fed on pasture will be shipped within a few weeks and lower prices are expected.

Prices announced yesterday were:
